For reference:

A Predominant Supplier is a supplier (or group of suppliers) that is aligned with a given Line of Business (LOB) to fulfill its technical services requests.

A Line of Business (LOB) is a particular legal entity or market segment within a larger business. IBM's lines of business include Global Services, Storage & Technology Group., Software Group, among others. LOBs can also have their own lines of business - for example, IBM Global Services includes IBM Business Consulting Services (CS), Strategic Outsourcing (SO), and Integrated Technology Services (ITS), among others.

As we value our supplier's autonomy in selecting their employees, the supplier listing below is provided for informational purposes only. You are free to independently pursue a relationship with any of the suppliers in the list. Given the nature of a Predominant Supplier solution, you should pursue employment with the supplier that best fits your employment strategy. (If you are interested in working on assignments within a specific LOB, then you should pursue employment with one of the suppliers approved for that LOB.) This information is not to be construed or presented as an endorsement or recommendation by IBM.

Thank you for your interest in a contractor assignment with IBM.
