TechU

Every new IT generation which enters the workforce provides an opportunity to bring new skills into your IBM Z team. Performance and capacity teams are a mission-critical function, and keeping skills fresh in your organization will keep you on track.

Send your early career IBM Z programmers and engineers to the new track, z/OS for Rookies, at upcoming IBM Systems Technical Universities in Orlando and London.

This full week of sessions helps your newer team members to get started and go deep on IBM Z with hands-on training delivered by IBM Technical Training Instructors. But that's not all.

We are partnering with Interskill to offer 53 e-learning courses targeted at the Rookies track attendees. These Interskill courses are available at no additional charge, from the time you register for TechU to three months after the event.

Packed with a punch

The z/OS for Rookies track offers a full track of in-depth training sessions and labs delivered on-site at TechU combined with a self-paced e-learning curriculum.
